

2022 OU Archaeological Field School - Excavations at Spiro

Learn how to conduct archaeological investigations at the world-famous site of Spiro in eastern Oklahoma and earn 8 credit hours!

What: Learn the basics of archaeological investigation and artifact analysis and participate in important research at the site of Spiro (AD 950-1450).

Who: The class is open to all undergraduates 18 or older. Students will enroll in ANTH 3930 (5 credit hours) and ANTH 3933 (3 credit hours).

When: The fieldwork will occur May 16 to June 17 and the lab work will take place in Norman June 20 to July 8. Class will take place M-F during all weeks and students will be free on the weekends. Applications due by March 28.

Cost: Tuition and fees for 8 credit hours + $300 room/board fee.

For more information and an application visit

<http://patricklivingood.oucreate.com/fieldschool> or contact Patrick Livingood at patrickl@ou.edu. Sponsored by the OU Dodge Family College of Arts and Sciences and its Department of Anthropology, in conjunction with the Oklahoma Archeological Survey.

